Incident: Vehicle Strikes Pedestrian on Fraser Highway

Abbotsford – July 19, 2010.

Last night at 10:20 pm a 37 year old woman from Abbotsford was walking westbound on the south shoulder in the 27700 block of Fraser Highway when she was struck by an older modeled vehicle with square headlights. The woman was thrown into a ditch and attempted to flag down other motorists before ultimately seeking assistance at a gas station. Abbotsford Police and BC Ambulance Services attended that location when contacted by staff.

The victim was wearing a white sweater jacket and blue jeans and was likely struck by the passenger mirror or the passenger side of the eastbound car. Fortunately, the victim's injuries were not life threatening and she was released from hospital after receiving treatment for lacerations and injuries to her right arm and head.
