Initial Release of November 25, 2014:

On Thursday, November 20, 2014 at 10:30 pm, a 42-year-old woman left her residence and went for a walk. She travelled southbound along Bourquin Crescent West when she noticed a man walking behind her in the area of the bus exchange. The man moved ahead of her and entered the Mill Lake boardwalk. Moments later as she was about to pass another entrance to the boardwalk, the man jumped out and grabbed her from behind while pulling her into the park. A struggle ensued and the victim was grabbed, groped and struck by the assailant. Fortunately the victim was able to push the attacker off balance which allowed her to run out of the park. The suspect did not follow her. The victim reported the incident the following day.

The suspect is described as a Caucasian male, 30-40 years of age, 5'9" tall wearing dark track pants, white running shoes and a dark hoodie with a circular design on the front. The man's face had stubble on it and there appeared to be short dark hair under his hoodie.
