Abbotsford – April 25, 2016

On Thursday, April 14 at 2:00 pm, an 89-year-old woman and her daughter exited a financial institution in the 32700 block of South Fraser Way. As the woman attempted to get into the passenger side of their vehicle, a male suspect grabbed her black purse from her and pulled her to the ground in the process. The suspect ran northbound from the parking lot. Several people came to assist the victim as her daughter called police.

The victim was transported to hospital for treatment of various injuries including scrapes and abrasions.

The suspect was inside the financial institution immediately prior to the robbery outside. He is described as a Caucasian male in his 20's with a thin build. He was wearing a blue "Bench" hooded jacket (see security images).
